BUILDING OF OGDEN.

One industry brings another. First in the progress of Ogden industrially were the canneries which struggled to exist for a number of years before they became recognized of great importance to the business life of this community. Then came the can plant, with its 200 employees. Now a fibre box factory is to be erected.

Our packing house has built the stock yards and feeding plants.

The grain elevators will bring their related industries, and all combined will stimulate every branch of trade.

Factories are more to be desired than skyscrapers for they sustain payrolls and skyscrapers follow in their order.

WHEN THE WOMEN ARE SUPREME.

Addressing the women at a convention in New York, a professor of one of the large colleges urged those present, now that women are promised nation-wide suffrage, to go out and make over the world, upsetting the customs of man.

When they organize and start on their crusade intended to overturn things, the women should have as their emblem the female phalarope, a bird which nests in the swamps near Corinne, Utah, and periodically makes great flights extending thousands of miles.

The female phalarope is bright plumaged and does the courting while the more plainly colored male performs the incubating.

While Mrs. Phalarope sits on a sand pile and pipes a shrill note to other birds, old man Phalarope is home doing the drudgery and patiently waiting when the little Phalaropes shall appear and, after careful nursing, be able to make their own way in the world.

What a delightful reform this would be for the women! In the first year of the new order of things, the men who survived would be willing to enlist to fight the Bolsheviks in Russia.

BOATING ON THE LAKE.

Once a week an excursion launch carries sightseers from Saltair to Bird Island in Great Salt Lake, a distance of 50 miles. Now Bird Island is only 16 miles from Camp No. 10 on the Ogden-Lucan cut-off, 35 miles west of Ogden. Why not arrange for one of those delightful excursions from the Ogden end? Why not make the lake itself an Ogden attraction?

Boating on the lake would become popular, if there was cheap transportation to the lake. The railroad does not run special trains or offer rates other than the regular charge, but, by a little effort, the accommodations and fare might be made to compare favorably with Saltair's inducements. Failing in this, an automobile boulevard could be constructed from Ogden to the edge of the lake and passengers ferried across Bear river.

Samuel T. Whitaker is building a 20-foot boat for Dr. H. A. Robinson who has a summer home on Promontory Point, while Architect Eber F. Piers is to construct a vessel for pleasure purposes, and this is a beginning which should point the way for others, so that by next season, more Ogdenites may regularly find in Great Salt Lake an inviting resort where out-of-the-ordinary enjoyments are to be had.

GEN. FRENCH SAVED THE BRITISH.

Field Marshal French is given credit by the New York Herald for saving Great Britain from a greater disaster than was suffered by British arms in the early part of the war. The Herald says:

"How many thousands of British and Colonial troops were sacrificed unnecessarily in the opening months of 1915 must be a subject of speculation. But that they were sacrificed—not as General Grant paid for victory with lives in the Civil war, but through stubborn disregard of facts and lack of an objective on the part of the British treasury—is shown with startling directness in the two closing chapters of Field Marshal Lord French's book.

"It was in the first three months of 1915 that General French, through results and personal observation, realized to what an extent his forces, as compared with the enemy, were lacking in heavy guns and high explosives. Under positive orders from the war office his very efficient reserve of munitions was being depleted in order that supplies might be sent to Salonica. On March 22 he sent an appeal to London which amounted to this: 'We must have munitions, more munitions and always more munitions, or we cannot be answerable for the consequences.' Nothing was done; and Mr. Asquith, the prime minister, sealed his own fate as a public man just a month later by making his Newcastle speech in which he declared that the commander of the forces in France was amply supplied with all that he required.

"This is where French the patriot got the better of French the diplomatist. He had to choose between his own future and that of the allies and the British Empire. He knew that by appealing to the country, even should he be successful, he would be recalled and another would be put in his place. He did not flinch. He placed his whole correspondence with the authorities before the public through the medium of Colonel Repington, and the storm broke. Mr. Lloyd George became minister of munitions. The cabinet was reconstructed and it became only a matter of time when Mr. Asquith would step down and out.

"In spite of the fact that this act of self-sacrifice was to cost the field marshal, his command on the continent, he bears earnest tribute to the support he had received on every occasion from Mr. Lloyd George, Arthur Balfour, Mr. Bonar Law, and Winston Churchill. The law of politics and the service, like that of the Medes and Persians, demanded his deposition, and deposed he was.

"It is no exaggeration to call Lord French's indictment of Mr. Asquith's government, as controlled by Mr. Asquith, the history of a crime. It is one of the most convincing documents ever put before the world at large."

LOCUSTS SHOULD BE EATEN.

It has been suggested that locusts are good to eat and by eating the seven-year variety, the plague can be made to disappear. The eating is said to be good. A New York paper says:

Advocating this course of action, in view of this year's scheduled return of the flying pests, Dr. Elhan Allen Andrews of Johns Hopkins university has already done his gastronomic bit. A handful of flyers of the Cicada septendecim class, white and tender, fresh from their shells, were to him of pleasant flavor, "just like shrimps."

Dr. Andrews is not unaware, of course, that the dietary step he proposes is sanctioned completely by an ancient biblical law. St. John ate his locusts and wild honey under the express permit thus set forth in Leviticus: "Even these of them (flying insects) ye may eat; the locust after his kind, and the bald locust after his kind, and the beetle after his kind, and the grasshopper after his kind." And presumably in compliance with a food custom thus justified, consumers to this day buy their winged delicacies by the sackful in the open locust market of Fez, in Morocco.

Admitting, however, that by example and other means we might be weaned from our reluctance to dine even on the most tasty of insects, one wonders if it would be true economy to follow Dr. Andrews' proposed course to its goal in extermination. Locusts may be delicate in flavor but they are hardy and persistent in propagation. In Cyprus in 1881 egg cases numbering 1,600,000,000 and weighing 1300 tons were destroyed. Two years later 5,075,000,000 fresh cases were deposited.

Our western Indians, at the time the first white men came into what was then the Great American Desert, ate locusts and grew fat.

No Referee Named For the Willard-Dempsey Bout

NEW YORK, June 13.—The board of boxing control did not name a referee for the Willard-Dempsey bout at its meeting here today. Instead, a list of referees, who in the opinion of the board possess the requisite qualifications was prepared and will be submitted to the principals of the July 4 bout. A selection will be made from the men who are agreeable to the pugilists.

Considerable mystery was thrown about the conference, the secretary of the board refusing to divulge the place of meeting, members present or the names of prospective referees considered.

St. Louis Star Makes the Best Showing in League

CHICAGO, June 14.—George Sisler, the St. Louis star, made the best showing in the American league during the past week. According to averages released today and which include Wednesday's game, this collegian not only advanced from ninth to fourth place among the batters, but took first honors as run maker from Weaver, Chicago. He registered 31 times. The St. Louisian also went into a tie with Roth, Philadelphia, for total base honors with 80, the pair relieving Ty Cobb of the honor. Sisler also has the distinction of being a member of the leading home-run trio—Sisler, Ruth of Boston and Roth, Philadelphia. Each made four homers.

Cobb retained his lead among the batters although he suffered a slight slump. He is hitting .355. Chapman, Cleveland, and Vitti, Boston, made three sacrifices each and continued their tie at 17.

Johnston, Cleveland, has been cutting loose on the paths during the past week and has dethroned Eddie Collins of Chicago, king of base stealers. Johnston had pilfered 14 bases, compared to Collins' 13.

Leading batters for 15 or more games: Cobb, Detroit, .355; Veach, Detroit, .351; Johnston, Cleveland, .346; Sisler, St. Louis, .345; Rice, Washington, .340; Weaver, Chicago, .333; Bodie, New York, .333; Schang, Boston, .333; Peckinpah, New York, .330; Gideon, St. Louis, .330.

Gavvy Cravath, Philadelphia, continued to lead National league batters. The big slugger has an average of .431 for 34 games. This mark is the result of 44 hits in 102 times at bat. In addition of being out in front among the batters, Cravath went into a tie for total base honors with Zack Wheat, Brooklyn, and Kauff, New York, with 76, the trio dispatching Doyle, New York.

Williams, Philadelphia, added another homer to his string, and leads with 6. Myers, Brooklyn, remained at the head of the sacrifice hitters with 12 and Higbee, Pittsburgh, leader of base stealers, pilfered another base and now has 13.

Leading batters for 15 or more games: Cravath, Philadelphia, .431; Youngs, New York, .342; Wingo, Cincinnati, .339; Roush, Cincinnati, .338; McCarthy, New York, .333; Williams, Philadelphia, .331; Doyle, New York, .326; Kilduff, Chicago, .318; Groh, Cincinnati, .311; Meusel, Philadelphia, .308.

BANTAM SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Pal Moore, bantamweight pugilist of Memphis, and his manager, Nate Lewis of Chicago, sailed from here for England today. Moore is matched to meet the English flyweight champion, Jimmy Wilde, in London, on July 17 in a 20-round bout, the weight limit being 116 pounds.

IDAHO DROUTH DAMAGING CROPS

Harry Knowlden, manager of the Knowlden Auto company, has returned from a ten days' trip through southern Idaho, introducing the Willis tractor and the Paige car to Gem State farmers and business men.

Mr. Knowlden states that Idaho is hard hit with drought at this time and that if it continues much longer, great damage to crops will be done. He says that water supply for irrigation in the sections he visited is very low, reservoir and canal supplies having been greatly reduced. A heavy fall of rain in that country, Mr. Knowlden states, would be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Idaho farmers.

The trip was made in a Paige sports car, which showed splendid performance over all kinds of roads, making as high as 200 miles a day over parts of the country. Mr. Knowlden states that on the entire trip the car averaged a little more than 19 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists 7c. Circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.
